

Classic Police Cars

by Tom O'Neill, Director — Tiburon Classic Car Show

This is the third year the Tiburon Police Department has entered two classic police cars in the Tiburon Classic Car Show. The first car is a 1991 Ford configured to replicate the looks of a 1964 patrol car. Interestingly, the body shape is very similar in spite of almost 30 years difference in age. Sergeant Mike Mourgos, the caretaker of these classic police cars, says they had the car painted to match the looks of the older car and found an authentic 60's era red police roof light (gumball) in Arizona. The final step was to find a company to make the unique Tiburon Police stars on doors that match the badges worn by the police officers. Sergeant Mourgo points out that the unit number for the car is 091101 in honor of all of our heroes who gave everything one day in our nation's history.

The little Police car was one of the most popular cars at last year's show. It comes from Sergeant Mourgos' collection of model police cars and memorabilia. The petal car seems to bring a smile of delight to both children and adults. We appreciate the Police Department's participation and support of our car show.
